The volunteers were divided into two groups and were allotted a specific location in the Village. The volunteers were instructed to identify places within the village where Aedes mosquitoes were likely to breed. They were provided with disposable gloves, masks and disinfectant. The students screened the village for stagnant water and tried to eliminate them. They emptied and removed empty cartons and containers filled with water. They also sprinkled disinfectants on the ground and places where complete removal of cartons was not possible. They made sure that the disinfectants (bleaching powder) were not sprinkled in regions where fish and other aquatic animals would be affected.
